Dear Sirs,

I confirm that Scene Double Ltd. does not intentionally use restricted substances in its products and based on information supplied by its suppliers, they are not present in any of Scene Double's products supplied to our clients. These substances include those restricted by the following EU legislation:

Directive 2011/65/EU (RoHS)
Regulation 1907/2006 (REACH)
Directive 2006/66/EC (Batteries)

Scene Double is committed to taking all reasonable steps to comply with the requirements of the REACH Regulation to provide information to its customers on the presence in its products of any substances listed in the candidate list of substances of very high concern (SVHCs).

Scene Double requires all of its suppliers to provide information on SVHCs if any are present at >0.1% and Scene Double does not use substances or mixtures of substances that contain SVHCs to manufacture its products. Unless Scene Double has already informed you otherwise, Scene Double is not aware, to the best of its knowledge, that any of the currently listed SVHCs are present at concentrations of >0.1% by weight in any of its products that it supplies.

Yours sincerely,

Ray Gordon
Director
